V. DESCRIPTION

Student Hours in Preclerkship Phase

Scheduled learning activities are defined as all clinical and academic activities related to the program, including but not limited to the following: in-person lectures, online lectures, patient panels, small group and team-based learning, standardized patient simulations, labs, dissections, assigned individual and group self-directed learning activities, Community-Engaged Learning activities, Longitudinal Generalist Mentorship assignments, quizzes, and exams. Activities that do not fall under this policy include recommended readings, review of lecture recordings, and exam preparation.

In the Pre-clerkship Phase, all scheduled academic activities are not to exceed an average of 22 hours per week. The Pre-clerkship Curriculum Committee reviews and ensures adherence to these limits.

Student Duty Hours in Care of Patients during the Clerkship and M4 Elective Phases

Duty hours are defined as all clinical and academic activities related to the program, including but not limited to the following: patient care (both inpatient and outpatient), administrative duties related to patient care, the provision for transfer of patient care, time spent in-house during call activities, and scheduled activities, such as conferences. Duty hours do not include reading, preparation time spent away from the duty site, and time completing other assignments (e.g., written history and physicals, clinical reasoning cases, etc.). The clerkship must design an effective program structure that is configured to provide students with educational opportunities, as well as reasonable opportunities for rest and personal well-being.

It is the policy of EVMS that duty hours of medical students should reflect the general guidelines set forth for residents by the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education.

- Duty hours must be limited to 80 hours per week, averaged over a 4-week period inclusive of all in-house clinical and educational activities.
- Students must be provided at least 1 day in 7 free from all clinical and educational responsibilities, averaged over a four-week period. One day is defined as one continuous, 24-hour period free from all scheduled clinical, educational and administrative activities.
- Students must be provided adequate time for rest between duty assignments. The rest time should be 10 hours but must be 8 hours.
- Students must have at least 14 hours free of duty after 24 hours of in-house call.
- Clinical and educational work periods for students must not exceed 24 hours of continuous scheduled clinical assignments at the end of which no new patients may be seen. Student may stay on site up to 4 hours to complete activities related to hand over of the care of patients.

Procedures for Students to Report Duty Hour Violations

Students who are subject to violations of the duty hours restrictions should contact their clerkship directors. If the violations are not resolved or if the student does not feel comfortable reporting to the clerkship directors, the student should contact the Associate Dean for Clinical Education. Students may also report violations through the EVMS Ethics and Compliance Hotline. The hotline is a confidential and anonymous reporting system which may be accessed on the web or via phone at 800.461.9330. Complaints made through Hotline will be investigated by the institutional compliance officer or his/her designee.
